

V8 Radio Podcast: Making Things Right When Things Go Wrong

As classic car enthusiasts, we know that sometimes things don't go the way we wish. Parts wear out and break, new parts sometimes don't work right out of the box, and things that were once fixed can change with usage. Although frustrating, it's just part of the joys of old car ownership. On this episode, Mike and Kevin chat about how to handle things when they don't go smoothly. There's also the usual trivia questions and goofy stories from our two "regular guy" hosts.
